- Anyone who has been diagnosed and confirmed to have COVID-19
- Anyone who is a caretaker for a patient diagnosed and confirmed with COVID-19

Frequently Asked Questions for Employees:

Question 1: Will workers qualify for unemployment benefits if COVID-19 causes an employer to shut down operations?

Answer: Alabama unemployment benefits are available to individuals who are unemployed through no fault of their own. If an employer must shut down operations and no work is available, individuals may be eligible for unemployment benefits.

Question 2: If an employer lays off employees due to the loss of production caused by COVID-19, will the employees be eligible for unemployment insurance benefits?

Answer: Alabama unemployment benefits are available to any individual who is unemployed through no fault of their own. If an employer must lay off employees due to the loss of production caused by the coronavirus, individuals may be eligible for unemployment benefits.

Question 3: If an asymptomatic employee imposes a self-quarantine because of COVID-19, will they be eligible for unemployment benefits?

Answer: In most cases, no. Unemployment benefits are available to individuals who are totally or partially unemployed due to no fault of their own. In this example, the individual—not the employer—is choosing not to work and, therefore, would be ineligible. However, the facts of each circumstance are important. If the employer allowed this individual to telework, they would not qualify for benefits because they would not be unemployed. If the employer required the individual to stay home but did not offer telework, the individual might be eligible for benefits if they met the monetary and weekly eligibility criteria.

Question 4: If an employee is in mandatory quarantine because of suspicion of having COVID-19, will they be eligible for unemployment benefits?

Answer: Yes, they will be eligible. Certain criteria and exceptions may apply and are subject to change.

Question 5: If an employee is ill because of COVID-19 and unable to work, will they be eligible for unemployment benefits?

Answer: Yes, they will be eligible. Certain criteria and exceptions may apply and are subject to change.

Question 6: If an employee is working reduced hours due to COVID-19 related issues, will they be eligible for unemployment benefits?

Answer: In some instances, yes. Please file a claim to determine eligibility.

Question 7: If an employee cannot work because they are caring for an immediate family member who is diagnosed with COVID-19, will they be eligible for unemployment benefits?

Answer: Yes, they will be eligible. Certain criteria and exceptions may apply and are subject to change.

Question 8: Is COVID-19 considered a disaster, and can an employee receive Disaster Unemployment Assistance?

Answer: The president of the United States has declared COVID-19 a national disaster, but at this time there has been no Disaster Unemployment Assistance declaration.

Question 9: What types of proof may be required to substantiate a COVID-19 claim?

Answer: Proof of a medical diagnosis from a health care professional for the claimant and/or the immediate family member, and/or confirmation of quarantine by the employer or applicable government entity.

Question 10: How long can an employee receive benefits?

Answer: Generally, up to three weeks, subject to verification.

Question 11: Can self-employed workers or workers who are employed by churches receive benefits?

Answer: No. In order to receive benefits, unemployment insurances taxes must be paid by the employer.

Frequently Asked Questions for Employers:

Question 1: If an employee receives unemployment benefits as a result of a coronavirus-related business shutdown, will the employer's unemployment tax increase?

Answer: Employer charges will be waived to weeks claimed due to COVID-19 related issues until further notice. Employers are urged to file partial claims on their employees' behalf, and / or to waive their right to respond to any Request for Separation information. MORE INFORMATION

Question 2: If an employee receives unemployment benefits as a result of a coronavirus-related business shutdown, can the benefits be charged to the mutual account?

Answer: At this time, no further guidance has been issued. Until such a time, normal procedures will be followed.

Question 3: What is a partial claim?

Answer: A partial claim is filed when an employee is laid off for a short period but is expected to be rehired at the same job. MORE INFORMATION
